

Ancient Greek Day

The day consisted of lots of fun activities that helped us learn about how the Ancient Greeks lived and how aspects of their society are still part of our British values today.

The children re-enacted the Greek tragedy of Pelops.

The Greeks loved theatre and often wore masks. Year 6 made their own Greek masks that expressed how they felt about the play.

Historians find out about the past by studying artefacts. Year 6 looked at many artefacts to find out about the Ancient Greeks.

The children tried out some Greek armour. Being in the Greek army must have been very tough—it weighed a tonne!
