

Silence Child!

On Tuesday 21st November, Years 5 experienced the wrath of Sir Ramsay and Madam Brown during Victorian School Day. The children spent the day working in the hall and everything (apart from the cane) was as close to a Victorian school as possible. The children were not permitted to speak unless spoken to and some were even brave enough to try Cook Penteney's gruel and soda bread. After copper plate handwriting, learning a poem, Bible readings, long multiplication and map reading - all in silence – most of the children were glad to get back to the 21st century.
