

Year 3 have worked hard to start off their topic of Stone Age art. They have discussed line drawings and have been developing their own sketching techniques. The children then looked at the different colours and pigments used in the Stone Age and then replicated that in to their own cave inspired drawings. The children have enjoyed evaluating and celebrating each other's work.

