

What does NASA, cars and parachutes have in common?

Today the children from year 4 leaning in school and at home enjoyed taking part in the 'UTC South Durham STEM Primary Challenge'! The children were tasked with making an origami monster and found out how origami is used for many different things. They were very interested in how NASA uses origami to send their satellites to space. With lots of patience and determination the children were successful and made some brilliant creations!

